Sweating, Exhausted Christian Bale Stumbles Past 13-Mile Marker On Oscars Red Carpet

Today 6:00pm • SEE MORE: OSCARS

LOS ANGELES—Grimacing and tossing a cup of water on his face as the spectators cheered him on, a sweating, exhausted Christian Bale was spotted Sunday evening stumbling past the 13-mile marker on the Oscars' red carpet. According to witnesses, the panting Bale had completely sweat through his tuxedo as he passed the red carpet midpoint, about two hours after the Oscars starter gun was fired. The actor reportedly staggered through a scattering of plastic water cups on the carpet as he retrieved a pack of energy gel from waist bag before pulling up behind the E! pace car to answer a question from Ryan Seacrest about working with Adam McKay. At press time, Bale had passed the 20-mile marker as a nearby Jennifer Lawrence doubled over and puked onto the red carpet.

How to make fake News

False Authority/ Manipulated date

Write a minimum of 2 paragraphs for each fake news story.

1. In your story overstate details that are impossible.
2. Use the celebrity, status, office or social position of the story teller to assume the details are correct. For example, "the President stated that he can fly."

Example #2 - The baseball player recommended I invest in Boeing stock.

To get the compositional elements you can google search Facebook logo, or Tik tok logo.

You can google search real advertisements and copy and paste into your fake news story.

Look at real news sites to steal how they set up their pages.

Look for lines that divide sections.
